

ProntoForms Now Integrated with Google for Work

Advanced integration allows administrators supporting 50 million users to easily access and deploy ProntoForms

OTTAWA, Canada - August 12, 2015 - ProntoForms Corporation (“ProntoForms” or the “Company”) (TSXV: PFM), maker of ProntoForms®, a mobile data collection and analytics platform, is pleased to announce that its solution is now available on the Google Apps Marketplace , allowing an enterprise’s Google for Work administrators to easily access and deploy ProntoForms directly from their Google accounts.

This new capability is designed to automatically integrate ProntoForms with Google Sheets, Google Drive and Gmail. This allows for easier storage of collected data and enables Google-integrated data sharing and notifications to key business stakeholders.

“This is a significant and strategic solution integration for our company as it allows us to access a sizeable group of users that have already connected their businesses to the Cloud. These are ideal target customers,” said Alvaro Pombo, ProntoForms Founder and CEO.

“This release also strengthens our distinct technical advantage identified by Frost & Sullivan this spring. ProntoForms is an open and connected mobile data collection and analysis platform. We embrace and connect to powerful Cloud platforms, enabling businesses to administer tasks and updates from the comfort of their daily business systems, like Google for Work. This is a powerful difference that makes it easier for businesses to deploy and use our solution.”
