

ProntoForms Introduces New Tools for Building Enterprise-Grade Mobile Apps for the Field

Company's no-code app development platform is gaining momentum among enterprise clients

OTTAWA, Canada – March 27, 2018 – ProntoForms Corporation (TSXV: PFM), the global leader in smart mobile forms for enterprise, today introduced new and updated development tools for its no-code, rapid mobile application development (RMAD) platform that lets non-technical users build enterprise-grade custom mobile apps for the field.

The tools, including an all-new Form Builder, allow Line of Business (LoB) owners to quickly build and deploy advanced mobile forms and automated workflows in an easy-to-use, point-and-click user interface.

The ProntoForms platform is well aligned with enterprise requirements and offers a rich set of industry-unique and advanced capabilities: advanced conditional logic, bulk editing tools, powerful form version and password controls, single sign-on (SSO), offline support for very large data sources, multi-step workflows, enterprise analytics, and much more.

"The sophistication and depth of our solution has always set us apart among mobile forms providers, and with the introduction of these new developer tools we're leaping even further ahead of the competition," says Alvaro Pombo, CEO of ProntoForms.

"There's a growing focus on field efficiency and safety among enterprise companies and our value proposition is resonating with front-line workers, team supervisors, and executives alike. Our recently demonstrated successes show that the momentum for field-focused mobile solutions for the enterprise is building."

Recent successes include:

- Two Fortune 50 contracts signed in Q4, 2017, with a total value of over $1M (see details here, and more details here)
- Recognized in Gartner's Market Guide for Rapid Mobile App Development Tools (see details here)
- Halliburton used ProntoForms to build custom mobile apps for real-time inventory management and service ticketing.
- Global service agreement in place with a global oil & gas company (upstream, midstream & downstream).
- Recently signed a contract with a national utility company in EMEA.
- ProntoForms was recognized at 2018 Verdantix International Innovation HSE Award as PG&E's technology partner.

Concludes Mr. Pombo: "We've recently updated our website to better explain how and why we're considered the leading provider of smart mobile forms for the enterprise. I encourage everyone to visit www.prontoforms.com to get all the details."
